Dear George:

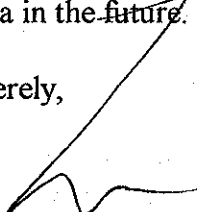

Thank you for your fine contribution to our survey on media trends and prospects for the 10th anniversary issue of the Media Studies Journal, "Media and Public Life--A Retrospective."

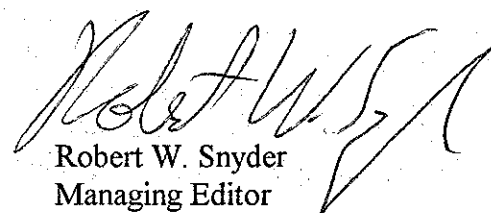

With this issue, we have tried to capture the best and the most significant endeavors of the Journal and the Center over the last decade. Because we are celebrating the Center's 10th anniversary, we are especially grateful for your thoughts.

The target date for release of this issue is mid-January. Naturally, we will send you a complimentary copy when it arrives. If you have colleagues who may not normally receive the Journal but who would have a particular interest in this one, please let us know and we will be happy to provide you with extra copies. You will also be able to find this and other issues of the Journal at bookstores nationwide.

Thank you again, and we look forward to working further with you as we explore the media in the future.

Sincerely,

Everette E. Dennis
