

Call for Proposals: Panel Discussions and Theme Sessions

The 1999 Cultural Environment Movement Convention:
“[theme]”

March 25-28, 1999
Ohio University
Athens, Ohio

CEM invites proposals for panel discussions (individual papers are not accepted) and suggestions for theme sessions. Submissions should focus on some facet of the cultural environment such as media monopoly, media literacy, health promotion, gender issues, cultural diversity, ethnicity, community, images of sex and violence, storytelling, drugs and alcohol, aging, marketing and commercialism, war and peace, news reporting, censorship, independent media, media regulations, globalization and related matters.

Proposals must meet the following guidelines: (1) submit two paper copies of the proposal, postmarked no later than December 15, 1998, (2) describe purpose, content and format, (3) identify those who have agreed to participate, (4) indicate expected size of audience and (5) specify any special facilities or equipment required. Proposals will be screened for relevance to the selected themes and to eliminate duplication or overlap. Proponents will be notified of acceptance decision by January 15, 1999.

Submit proposals and related inquiries to: CEM Convention Planning Committee, P.O. Box 31847, Philadelphia, PA 19104 or cem@libertynet.org (electronic submission is appreciated).
