Dear George:

I am writing to invite you to a fund raising party to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the Communications Media Center on Thursday evening, April 23, 1998.

Since its inception in 1978, the Center has hosted more than two hundred seminars and conferences bringing together leaders from law, business, academe and government; I and other New York Law School faculty have taught thousands of media law students in both the U.S. and abroad and have directed them toward positions in the communications sector.

Over the years, Center Partners have helped to cover the costs of other activities such as "Minority Media Law Day," the student magazine Media Law and Policy; the PBS television series, "The Telecommunications and Information Revolution;" Minority Media Law Fellowships; and the Center's web site <www.cmcnyls.edu>, a repository of U.S. media law cases, statutes and papers. For that support the Center is grateful to its friends.

As the Center enters its twentieth year, we invite you to a gala evening to celebrate its successes and on-going activities, and dream up future projects.

Cordially,

Michael Botein
